MVD Communications Offers Long Distance and Mobile Service to Customers

CINCINNATI, Ohio – November 20, 2006 - MVD Communications, the Ohio Valley's 3rd largest telephone equipment supplier, announced today that it has expanded its service offerings to include Sprint long distance, data and mobile phone service for businesses. "Because integrating the voice and data networks can result in significant costs savings, customers are asking MVD assist to them to transition their business to a holistic, seamless converged network," said Rock Robinson, VP of Sales & Marketing for MVD Communications. "Offering Sprint's long distance services, and wireless capabilities, is part of our long-term strategy to be a company's one-stop shop when it comes to communications."

MVD Communications has developed relationships with Sprint, to sell its products and services to customers. "We believe our customers can immediately experience cost savings and operational efficiencies as it relates to these new products and services," said Robinson.

"With the largest mobile broadband network, Sprint was an obvious choice for us," Robinson commented. "Sprint also leads the industry-leading with its wireless phones with global positioning tracking (GPS). With these mobile phones, companies can more effectively monitor, measure, and manage their employees while they are out of the office. This has an immediate positive impact on a company's bottom line. We are extremely pleased to offer such innovative products to our customers," Robinson added. With these GPS services, field employees can utilize global positioning on their daily routes. In addition, when the company receives a customer inquiry regarding where the field service technician is on route, the employee can provide real-time information about their location and estimated arrival time.

"Because they are one of the region's largest telephone equipment providers, we are very pleased to be entering into a partnership with MVD. Together, we offer the region's businesses a compelling alternative for its entire mobile, voice, and networking needs," concluded Ben Schlafke, Sprint Indirect Channel Manager.
